EVENTS OF INTEREST AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

A Chatty and Interesting Letter Giving Sidelight Events at the Seat of Government.

By J. E. JONES.

(Special Correspondent of the Gazette)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.

Colonel George Harvey, formerly of Harper's Weekly, was the originator of Woodrow Wilson booster, and he and Marse Henry Watterson spilled buckets of ink to demonstrate that Woodrow Wilson should be the president of the United States. Mr. Wilson thought that the two gentlemen were boosting for Wall street, and he threw them over. Now they have been received back into the fold and harmony has been restored to the White House. The President has also declared his support for Governor Flynn, of New York, and Roger Sullivan, of Illinois, and he has also placed his O. K. upon the candidacy of a number of Senators who are up for re-election. Senator Bristow, of Kansas, has made remarks that would indicate that he was fearful that President Wilson had become the tool of sinister influences. There has not been an administration for half a century that is so abjectly subservient to the Wall street influences as this one," said Mr. Bristow. But somebody always says that about every administration.

THE TROUBLE WITH TROLLEY LINES.

Undoubtedly the country will wish the Public Utilities Commission of Washington success in its attempt to regulate the almost unbearable conditions that exist in the street car service at the National Capital. Naturally, it would be expected that at the seat of government the transit some features of local transit would be solved, but, as a matter of fact, it is doubtful whether there is a city in the entire country that has more cross-crossing of the lines of the different companies than Washington, where every device known to clever corporations is resorted to in the street railroad lines in order to avoid the annoyances that the public are subjected to. It seems just as easy for the street railway magnates to manipulate the laws where the government has its headquarters as any other place.

"I AM A FOOL FOR LUCK."

Everyone likes frankness in public officials, therefore the comment of Vice President Marshall on the nineteenth anniversary of his marriage ought to meet with public approval. "Marriage is a great institution if you get the right wife," soliloquized Mr. Marshall. He continued: "Now I am a fool for luck, but I would hesitate to advise the young men of this country to go and do likewise, for if they were not lucky they might lay their misfortune on me."

SIR EDWARD CARSON

A few weeks ago there was violent talk of war in Ireland and Sir Edward Carson, who is at the head of the Ulster men, started in to resist home rule. Now Ireland is united, and Sir Edward's advice to his followers is practically: "We must all turn in to help lick those Germans, in order to get a clear field for our own civil war. We will put that on as soon as this difficulty is out of the way."

WHEN CONGRESS QUITS

Congress is about ready to put up stakes, but it may be that the President will summon "the boys" back to Washington after election. It is known that the President wants to put the finishing touches on his "policies," and to so arrange legislation that on March 4th, next, he will be able to say to the legislators that they may go home and stay there until December. Congress has been in almost continuous session for almost six years, and when the administrative program as completed Mr. Wilson believes it will be time to give the country.

FARMING AN UP-TO-DATE NATIONAL MOVEMENT.

Our United States Department of Agriculture, as everyone knows has been doing some wonderful educational work throughout the country in behalf of efficiency farming. Secretary Houston never neglects an opportunity to increase his already enormous knowledge on practical agricultural subjects, and not long ago he was greatly interested to discover the Country Life Permanent Exposition, right upstairs in the Grand Central Terminal New York City.

This institution he found to be devoted entirely to urging the millions of nerve-racking New Yorkers back to the farm, or at least to sensible urban living. A model of a rehabilitated farm caught the imagination of our Secretary of Agriculture, and he declared that it was the best visual representation of the wonderful possibilities of the old tumbled-down farm buildings being resurrected and made workable, of anything he had found in this country.

Whereupon he asked permission of Managing Director Robert H. Sexton to have a stereopticon slide made from photographs of this model, and ever since, he has been exhibiting these in his public lectures on agricultural subjects.

I was naturally curious, therefore, to look up the Country Life Exposition (which I did last week on a flying visit to New York City), and I found that this managing director was an old acquaintance of mine, who has long been known as a practical expert in exposition matters.

The place is almost a small Smithsonian Institute! It seemed to me to have no geographical or local limitation, but to really contain the nucleus of a great national idea.

The old hayseed of a farmer is a figment of the brain which should be swept away with all cobwebs. The modern farmer is intelligent, efficient, up-to-date. He has a telephone and bathrooms in his house; he sports an automobile; he uses the very most modern and valuable machinery, often employing electricity, or at least steam power to do the work which used to be dirty drudgery for over-burdened "hands." I always take off my hat to the modern American farmer, and I also feel proud of our government which is doing so much to co-operate with him, and to give him the benefit of all the findings of science and the highest achievements of inventions.

The Country Life Exposition is permanent, and not one of those mad whirls which sweep through a city spending a week in an orgy of work and noise, and frantic demonstrations. This one I found to be dignified, beautiful and accentuated by the highest ideals. As one enters the long lofty exhibition hall, with its artistic mezzanine balconies overhanging either end, one is profoundly impressed by the mural decorations which show long sweeps of Hudson river scenery, and suggest innumerable country districts and wonderful estates.

The centre is filled with booths topped by artistic pergolas, intertwined with vines. In the centre is a handsome, rustic tea house, which is surrounded by living shrubs and greens.

All of the exhibits are directly connected with country living, with the land, the home, the bungalow, the farm, chicken-raising, the development of the soil, model farms, incubators, iron fences, art stone masonry, parking and interior

What man has been hired to obey the call of the wild, and establish homes in the country, he may discover here how best to furnish his home, equip his efficiency kitchen with the latest modern labor-saving inventions, and use the most practical flooring, wall decorations, etc.

Much has been said about the poor farmer's wife who does not enjoy the up-to-date working tools in her household management, that her husband deems necessary for the proper carrying out of his trade. Here she will find an automatic fireless cooker, a five minute ice cream freezer, and white metal refrigerator and kitchen cabinets and all manner of vacuum cleaners, and coffee percolators, and dozens of devices which make housework so easy it is a joke.

But, of course, the vital and interesting part was the farm idea itself rather than merely beautiful suburban homes and bungalows.

There is no department which arises to advise Americans what not to buy in the way of farm property, for who so green as the city man trying to purchase a farm? The Farm Bureau just helps city folks to an intelligent selection of the right farm, and second, disseminates valuable information on farming methods, how a farm may be unified to make the greatest return, what crops are best to cultivate; what breed of cattle is most practicable to raise. The location of a farm is most important, and the majority of metropolitan people are hopelessly ignorant. The visitor is given free information on all subjects pertaining to dairy countries; to fruit raising; to poultry and garden production, as a means of livelihood or partial money making.

There is even a Bureau of Country Schools which accentuates the value of educating all children far away from towns and cities.

The model that Secretary Houston found so valuable, shows an ordinary or typical old run-down farm which has been made modern. The houses and barns are covered with stucco (which necessitates very little money); the place is made immaculately clean and stocked with the most practicable animals and plants. Such simple transformations as science and efficiency suggest have been made, and the little electric lighted model is alluring in its completeness and simplicity.

Although I have always been a great believer in small town and country living, I was converted afresh by this excellent and greatly needed Country Exposition, in the heart of America's most profligate and congested city! And it is absolutely free! I hope that visitors from all over America will take this basic lesson to heart.

EDGELY

Miss Mary Maguire and Miss Mary McKithan, of Philadelphia, were weekend guests of Miss Alice McCabe, of Headley Manor.

Thomas A. Williams, of Holmesburg, and Miss Bessie Sickres, of Frankford, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Romine at "Cozy Nook" on Sunday.

Word has been received from John Kilgannon, a former resident of Edgely, stating that he is now located at Sesame, Pa. He intended to go to Ireland but postponed the trip on account of the war. Mrs. Kilgannon is also at Sesame.

Much disappointment was felt by the residents of Headley Manor last Friday by reason of the automobiles in the Suburban Improvement Day parade not going over to their village. Great preparations had been made in the way of cleaning up and putting our flags and out of the sixty or more autos that came up the pike only two or three went across the canal. Headley Manor is a growing suburb and the residents felt they should have been included in the program.

The American Pipe and Construction Company has commenced work on a large building for the manufacture of structural iron on a plot of ground adjoining the Green Lane school house at North Bristol. The concern is a subsidiary to the Standard Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company at North Bristol.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Kensil and John E. Sowden, of Philadelphia were week end guests of relatives at Edgely.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McLaughlin entertained a large number of relatives and friends at their home at Riverview on Sunday.

Prof. Edwin Thompson and a number of his pupils from Mt. Airy, spent Saturday and Sunday at the former's summer residence here.

William A. Shores, of Florence, was the week-end guest of friends in Edgely.

Here is a little item that may be of interest to a number of our residents: The Roeblings are building a large factory at Roebling for the manufacture of musical instrument wire, and it is one of the few places of the kind in the United States.

The Ritter catsup factory was closed this week on account of a shortage of stock but will run from now on until the close of the season.

Get out your hooks and lines. The catties, sunnies and perch are biting fine here these days now.

No. 2 shop at the foundry has shut down for a few weeks in order to make some necessary repairs and alterations.

Surveyors have been at work the past week on the Landreth farms and various rumors are afloat. Some are to the effect that the place has been sold and others are that the survey is for a new state road. Stop, look and listen!

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rogers and family have moved from the pike above Green Lane to North Bristol.

Edward VanSelver, of Edgely, was the guests of relatives at Burlington, over the week-end.

Robert C. Lisher, of Edgely, has been working in Philadelphia for the past fortnight but will return to his former place here next week.

Ground has been broken on Radcliffe street, adjoining the Thomas G. Hawkes estate at this place, for a fine residence for Mrs. Myers, of Philadelphia.

Walter Gallagher, of Maple Beach, is spending some time with his sister, Mrs. Thomas G. Hawkes, at Edgely.

A telephone has been placed at the Headley Manor store and it is said that a large number of phones will be installed in the homes at Headley Manor shortly.

The houseboats which have been anchored opposite this place all summer, have been moved to winter quarters behind Burlington Island.

Mrs. William M. Romine, of Edgely, was the guest of relatives in Camden and Philadelphia for a few days this week.

The chestnut hunters were out in full force on Saturday and Sunday and report finding a number in the woods around here.

The dance hall at Headley Manor has been completed and the season will now be opened in full sway.

Funeral a Year After Death.

The funeral of Gottlob Wislisen will take place at Beechwood cemetery, Bulmeville, next Sunday. He was found dead about a year ago in a woods at Neshaminy Falls and was buried in potter's field. He was identified by his family last June, but the body could not be disinterred on account of the health laws until after the 15th of October. From the careful description taken by Undertaker Charles Huefner the body was identified.

INEXPENSIVE CUTS REDUCE MEAT BILLS

Spare Ribs and Tenderloin of Pork Are Economical.

ALSO ADD KIDNEY AND LIVER

We have read the following and as it sounds good, we pass it along:

There are many ways of serving meat that are fairly inexpensive, even at the present time, when the cost of meat has gone up.

Kidneys, which may be bought now for thirty cents a dozen make a delicious dish when they are stewed, flavored with sherry and served with a thick gravy.

Calves brains boiled and served with a black butter sauce are also good, or they may be cut into pieces and fried, or cooked like sweetbreads, at half the cost of sweetbreads. They make a dish more tender, and to many people more palatable.

Liver braised and garnished with vegetables, finely sliced carrots, turnips, celery and potatoes makes a delicious dinner dish, and is not expensive.

Spare ribs, which are in the market now, are cheap, and when cooked in the Southern way with a thick brown gravy and sliced vegetables are delectable. They are also good grilled and served with a hot sauce, made as follows:

One-half cup of tomato catsup, one-half cup Worcestershire, two teaspoonfuls of mustard, and a dash of vinegar.

This is mixed well together and served separately, as it is very hot and a little of it goes a long way.

For a small family tenderloins of pork make an economical dish, and are extremely good stuffed and baked. One tenderloin should be allowed each person. Have the butcher split them for stuffing and fill them with this dressing:

Crumb about one-fourth of a loaf of stale bread and soak the crumbs in a very little water. Add to the crumbs one minced onion, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper, and two teaspoonfuls of poultry seasoning. Bind with one well-beaten egg. Stuff the tenderloins and secure each one with a small skewer. Bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes, basting them frequently. They should be very tender. When they are cooked make a brown gravy with the liquor left in the pan. Pour the gravy over the tenderloins and serve.

TULLYTOWN

Rev. Roy A. Welker, of Drew Theological Seminary, has succeeded Rev. J. B. Ketcham as pastor of the Tullytown M. E. church and preached on Sunday to a good sized congregation and made many admirers by his faithful sermon. Rev. Ketcham has been transferred to Madison, N. J.

Charles Hill, of Penns Grove, is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. John Dyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert VanDoren, of Bridgewater, spent some time last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Addison VanDoren, on Main street.

The sum of $98 was cleared at the recent harvest home held here.

The Penn Sand Company, our new enterprise, has started operations and the prospects are bright for a busy season.

Allen Iffibi is suffering with a case of blood poisoning and is reported as being quite ill.

Gus Grosse expects to get into his new bungalow in a short time. It will be a fine home when completed.

The new quarters of the postoffice have been fitted up in fine style and the facilities for handling the mail have been greatly increased. Mr. Moon is a live young man and up-to-date.

Mrs. Frank Carlin and son were the guests of relatives and friends in Philadelphia several days last week.

At the regular meeting of council last Monday night only routine business was transacted and a number of bills passed.

Alva VanDoren, who has been confined to the house with tonsilitis, is convalescent.

Joe Zorneck, the barber, is practicing as a pool player, and when he becomes proficient expects to issue a challenge to the great Hightstown barber pool shark, Edwin Ralph.

CORNWELLS

Mr. and Mrs. Cave are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a little baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Knight spent Saturday evening with Miss Addie Simons.

Mrs. Charles Leach and daughters, Naomi and Thelma, were visiting in Cornwells on Tuesday.

Mrs. Linzo entertained relatives over the week-end.

Rev. J. Donald Hockman spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lippincott. His pulpit will be filled next Sunday by Rev. Mr. Simpson, of Fox Chase, who will administer the communion on that day.

"The New Minister" was a grand success and we thank all of those who helped to make it such a success.

Miss Gladys Connelly has added three drainage pipes to her driveway at Wayside. They are sixteen inches in diameter and sixteen feet long. This is an improvement on the old form of drainage.

Mrs. Alvin Wildman has returned from a long visit in Chester county.

Mrs. Elmer Ely was visiting her son, Harold, in Buffalo, N. Y. last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Leedom, of Bristol; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simons, Mr. and Mrs. George Munn and son, George, Russell Knight and wife, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Atkinson, Miss Addie Simons, Misses Harriet and Romella Wood, Miss Elsie Smith, Miss Dorothy C. Blaker and Wilbur H. Smith were guests at an evening company given by Mr. and Mrs. Ely at their beautiful home on Cornwells avenue, on Friday evening, October 9th.

Practicability of the parcel post as a medium of direct exchange between city dwellers and producers of the farm has been established by a test in ten cities, the Post Office Department announced recently. Postmasters' reports stated the new system had been welcomed in nearly all the communities, that it appeared a factor in reducing the cost of living and that improvements under way assured its growth. Damage to parcels in shipment amounted to less than one-tenth of 1 per cent., it was said, and that was mainly due to inefficient packing. Tests were made in Washington, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, Atlanta, Birmingham, San Francisco, Rock Island, Illinois; Lynn, Massachusetts; and La Crosse, Wisconsin.

The gravity on the surface of the moon is about three-twentieths what it is on the earth, so that a body which would weigh twenty pounds there would weigh only three pounds here.

LANGHORNE

Mrs. Nettie Helronymous, who underwent a operation at the Samaritan Hospital, is improving steadily.

Milwood Mather is home after an extended business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knotts and daughter, Alma, of Newark, Del.; Miss Rena Knotts, of Trenton, and Miss Parker, of Maryland, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knotts.

Miss June Murphy, of California, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Henry Lovett.

This Sunday is C. E. Day at the Methodist church, both morning and evening service to be in their charge. In the evening there will be solos. In the evening there will be solos. ducts, etc., in charge of Prof. Conner, of Bristol, instructor of the young people's choir.

John Harding has moved into the Shapley residence for the winter. Mr. Wessaw is moving into the house vacated by him.

"Letting Our Good Be Evil Spoken of," is the subject of Rev. B. F. Pabst's sermon on Sunday morning. In the evening Past Captain William C. Crawford, of the Salvation Army, will speak. He is the division officer for Pennsylvania Division and secretary to Col. Richard C. Holz, who is provincial officer of Philadelphia. He has been in the Salvation Army for almost 20 years. Miss Crawford will sing. A voluntary offering for the army will be received at the door at the close of the service for any who wish to contribute.

Mrs. Albert Morris and Mrs. Elmer Bazzel entertained their Sunday school classes on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Joseph Esherick attended the State Federation of Women's Clubs held in Pittsburgh from the 12th to the 16th. Mrs. Esherick represented the Sorosis.

Mrs. Thomas Hetherington attended the Daughters of Liberty State Council at Williamsport, Pa., this week as a delegate from the Friendship Council, No. 41, D. of L., located at South Langhorne.

The members of the Bucks County Natural Science Association are planning to attend the fall meeting at the George School this Saturday, both morning and evening sessions.

The date of the missionary meeting of the Presbyterian church has been changed from October 20th to the 27th.

A young son is rejoicing the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Osterhout.

The first meeting of the Bible Study Class on the life of Christ, will be held on Monday evening, October 26th, at the Presbyterian church, at 8 o'clock. The books to be used are "Studies in the Life of Christ," by H. B. Sharman, and "Harmony of the Gospels," by Stevens and Burton.

Miss Blanche Vera Mellon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mellon, was married on Tuesday to Reuben B. Van Norman. Their many friends wish them much happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Van Norman will make their home in New York.

NEWTOWN

Martin V. Sickle and wife and Harry C. Case and family have rented their home here and they are now visiting for a few weeks before starting for St. Petersburg, Florida, where they have spent the past year, as Mr. Case is manager of an electric system in that city, on the west coast of the peninsula state.

Miss Marion Smith, who has been ill with appendicitis for the past two weeks, was taken to her home at Boothwyn, Pa., in an automobile on Sunday. She is the teacher in the second grade of the public school.

Mrs. John Blackfan is this week attending the State Federation of Women's Clubs in Pittsburgh, as representative of the New Century Club of Newtown.

James L. John, who resides on South Chancellor street, received word last Wednesday that his son, Carlton John, had been seriously injured in a holdup on a railroad near Valley City, North Dakota. A later communication said that a bullet had entered the body and shattered the spinal column and that his death occurred twenty-four hours after the accident. The young man, during the past few months, had been a detective for the Philadelphia & Reading Railway, but was obliged to give up his position owing to impaired health, and doctors advised the Canadian climate, so he was on his way there when he met the tragic death. His body was sent to Millville, Pa., this week, where a widow and small daughter survive. James John and family went to Millville on Tuesday and the funeral was conducted on Thursday.

Mrs. Edward S. Hutchinson is attending the State Federation in Pittsburgh.

The first meeting for this season of the Friends' Association was conducted Wednesday evening when the following program was presented:

Address, Reuben P. Kester, "What is the Greatest Need of the Society of Friends?"

Dr. W. A. Roberts, "What Does This Society Owe to This Community?"

Prof. G. H. Nutt, "How Shall We Increase the Spirit of Reverence of Young People?"

Evan T. Worthington, report of the Saratoga Conference.

These meetings are held in the meeting house. This association will entertain the eastern district conference over the week-end of November 14th and 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pusey and the former's parents from Avondale, Pa., spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Pusey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hogeland.

Rev. Charles T. Holcombe, of Watertown, N. Y., formerly living here, where his mother still resides, filled the pulpit of the Methodist church at the service on Sunday morning.

Miss Helen Lancaster is the guest of Mr and Mrs. Algernon Cadwallader, as were also Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Warner, of Philadelphia, over the week-end.

Miss Annie Ely is spending some time at Wildwood, N. J.

The moonshiners, John Mired and John Almer, who have been conducting a whiskey distillery plant for at least two years on the place known as the Stoop farm, at Stoop's corner, were brought to justice last week. For some time past many people have thought there was strange prosperity on this farm. Now it is explained that the farm's products were converted into whiskey, which was sent to a cigar store and saloon in Philadelphia where it was sold by a son of one of the culprits. The men were arrested by secret service detectives and Constable Atkinson, of Doylestown.

A young people's branch of the W. C. T. U. was organized last Friday evening with 25 members. The following officers were elected:

President, R. Clyde Smith.
Secretary, Marion Scott.
Treasurer, Herbert Twining.

A number of departments of work will be followed including press, flower mission, Christian citizenship, literature and poster publicity. The meetings will be held the second Tuesday of each month. Ten of the members will attend the county convention in Fallsington this Saturday when four of the number will present the play, "Sweethearts," at the evening session. This recently made a great hit when given in Newtown.

32.	Allegheny	0.36	12,988 83
	Totals	30.5	$709,310 69
	Average per mile		$23,548 80

These figures show that the average contract price of state roads completed by Bigelow is, per mile $19,800 00

Average price per mile paid under these contracts $20,644 80

Average contract price of Bigelow roads contracted for but not yet completed, per mile $23,548 80

(These figures are for actual construction; they do not include overhead expenses, which amount to twice as much in each instance.)

Average cost of state roads in New York, including all reported and suspected graft, is, per mile $13,000 00

Average cost of bituminous macadam roads in Ohio, per mile ..... $ 7,000 00

Average cost of macadam in Massachussetts, per mile ..... $ 8,000 00

PRESENT AND PROSPECTIVE COST OF BIGELOWISM.

State Highways (exclusive of state aid roads, etc.) completed or put under contract by Bigelow	88.93 miles
Total cost of construction work only	$1,926,188 55
Average construction cost per mile	$21,659 00
Entire system projected will embrace	8,827 miles
At $21,659 per mile, the construction cost would be	$191,183,993 00
But in addition there are the Bigelow overhead charges, which for 241 miles of all roads under way amount to	$9,344,408 65
Which is an average per mile of	$38,900 00
Adding the construction cost per mile of	$21,659 00
The actual cost of Bigelow roads is, per mile	$60,559 00
At this Bigelow rate the total system of 8827 miles would cost the taxpayers of this state, for construction	$191,183,993 00
For overhead charges	$343,370,300 00
TOTAL COST OF THE BIGELOW SYSTEM	$534,544,293 00

Meeting of Township Teachers.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bristol Township Teachers' Association was held recently at the Laurel Bend schoolhouse.

The president of the association, Mr. Lawler, informed the members that Miss Van Zandt and he had attended a meeting of the Bucks County Teachers' Association at Doylestown, where Miss VanZandt had the honor of being elected secretary of the County Teachers' Association.

It was resolved that the township teachers should carefully study a definite method of teaching reading, especially in the grammar grades. Sherman & Reed's "Essentials of Teaching Reading" was adopted, and Miss Birkey was appointed to instruct the teachers in this subject at the next regular meeting.

It was also unanimously decided to adopt a uniform system of penmanship. After a discussion, upon motion of Miss Tomlinson, the A. N. Palmer system of muscular writing was adopted, and Mr. Lawler was appointed to instruct the teachers in this method.

These regular meetings of teachers of rural schools are vastly important and beneficial. Problems of class management and methods of teaching are discussed, uniform work is planned for the various schools and a hearty spirit of co-operation is maintained.

The members of the Bristol Township Teachers' Association are: James Lawler, president, and Miss VanZandt, Green Lane; Miss Birkey, secretary, Laurel Bend; Miss Chambers, Delaware school, Edgely; Misses Mohr and Johnson, Newportville; Miss Tomlinson, Badger; Miss Potts, Emilie.

Natural Science Association.

The programme for the fall and also twentieth anniversary meeting of the Bucks County Natural Science Association to be held at George School tomorrow is as follows:

The Beginnings of Life, Dr. John M. Macfarlane.

Resume of Twenty Years of the Association, Leslie K. Betts.

Remarks, Dr. C. C. Abbott and Margaretta Packer.

Sessions at 11 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Basket lunch. All interested are cordially invited.

The "Record's" Sense of Proportion.

About three-quarters of the newspapers of the country seem to be laboring under the impression of late that there is little of consequence going on anywhere in the world but the European war. A notable exception is "The Philadelphia Record," whose editors preserve a just sense of proportion in the presentation of the news, as usual. The war is getting all the attention it deserves in "The Record" in the shape of full and satisfying accounts from all the foreign sources; but it is not allowed to overshadow reports of other events, at home and abroad, in which well-balanced newspaper readers are interested.

Freedom from sensationalism has served "The Philadelphia Record" well in this war situation. It has not been obliged to overtax its ingenuity (as have some other newspapers, which had exhausted their typographical resources in giving startling prominence to unimportant matters in times of peace) to "play up" the war news. That school of journalism which spreads a head in inch-high type across the page to chronicle an automobile accident or a dog-fight is hard put to it to find type and space big enough for the news of a battle on the outcome of which may hang the destinies of half a dozen nations. "The Record" isn't in that school. It continues to fill the space given over by some of its contemporaries to spread eagle heads with what the readers want and pay for—accurate and comprehensive news.

"Record" popularity is perhaps accounted for by "Record" versatility. "The Philadelphia Record" covers every phase of human activity in its varied departments, and stands in the good graces of every member of the family. It is fair, clean, reliable, bright and entertaining. It is a level-headed all-around NEWS paper for intelligent people who want trustworthy news of all happenings worth reading about, served in attractive form.

Market Gardening.

An address on "Market Gardening" will be given in the parish house of Christ church, Eddington, by Mr. Sheldon W. Funk, of the State Department of Agriculture, of the division of Farmers' Institutes, about the first of November; the exact date will be given later. This lecture is free and all interested are invited to attend.

ANNUAL REPORT OF FIRE CHIEF

Recommends Purchase of Automobile Pumping Engine and More Fire Plugs.

A DETAILED LIST OF FIRES

At the regular meeting of the Bristol borough council held on Monday evening, Chief Franklin Gilkeson submitted his annual report which is as follows:

To the Chief Burgess and Council of the Borough of Bristol:

Gentlemen:—The Chief of the Fire Department herewith begs leave to submit his annual report of the department, from September 8th, 1913, to September 14th, 1914.

All of the apparatus and hose are in good serviceable condition, with the exception of the fire engine of the No. 1 Company, which, in my opinion, is practically useless and cannot be depended upon for fire service. The engine was tested recently and did not pump satisfactorily; it seemed impossible to keep the steam pressure up for any length of time. It would be necessary to install a new boiler on the engine to put the same in good working order, at a probable cost of $1000. I do not recommend spending any money to repair the engine, in view of the fact that a motor driven pumping engine can be secured as hereinafter set forth.

I desire to impress upon the minds of your honorable body that the town is absolutely dependent upon the water works for an adequate supply of water and a sufficient pressure therefor in time of fire; since the installation of the large water tank, we have had an excellent pressure at fires, but something unforseen might happen to the water works, and the town would be practically helpless without a pumping engine. I, therefore, earnestly urge your honorable body to consider, as soon as possible, the purchase of an automobile pumping engine, which I am positive can be bought for $4000, fully equipped, and this apparatus would deliver five hundred gallons of water a minute.

I am informed by the No. 1 Engine Company they are in a position to raise at least $2000 and, possibly, $2500, towards the purchase of an automobile pumping engine, and hence the borough would only be called upon to contribute the balance of between $1500 and $2000.

I hope this matter will receive your serious consideration, because in the event of a disastrous fire occuring in the borough, the town would need a pumping engine very badly if the water works was disabled. Please do not forget that Bristol is a frame town, and we do not want a Chelsea or Salem conflagration.

I heartily endorse the recommendation of our Burgess, Mr. Thomas Scott, in regards to the purchase of additional fire plugs, because, as he stated, it is more economical to buy fire hydrants than to procure a large quantity of expensive fire hose every year.

ALL GOOD AND TRUE

BUCKMAN'S PAPER ROADS.

Little pamphlets, the cover of which bears the classic features of Senator Buckman, are flooding the mails in Bucks county. These little booklets seek to convey the alleged information that the Hon. Clarence has succeeded in having 250 Bucks county roads placed under the care of the State. A miniature map of the county is printed on the back cover of the booklet indicating the locations of the "paper" highways which are to be Bigelowized for over three million dollars without any cost to the county.

According to the Buckman books, the $50,000,000 which the voters refused Bigelow last year is just a trifle in comparison with the amount to be expended if the Bigelow system is carried out—which it is promised will be the case.

Buckman was instrumental in having 250 miles of Bucks county roads placed on the state highway plan, it is explained, at a time when all the gangsters of the senate were having numerous roads in their districts marked up as state highways, which was cheap work and didn't benefit the roads. In fact, most of these roads have been in far worse condition since Bigelow has had charge of them than they were under local control.

The completion of these 250 miles of Bucks county roads, says the plea for Buckman re-election, "will require a state expenditure of close to $3,750,000, which, under all previous experience, should not cost the county a penny."

The total of $3,750,000 is moderate, as it is based on a calculated expenditure of only $15,000 per mile for the 250 miles of Bucks county roads which Buckman is credited with placing under Bigelow's control. "Previous experience" has shown Bigelow-style roads to cost more like $20,000 per mile.

If, as it is promised, the state puts $3,750,000 into the 250 miles of Bucks county roads, without the cost of a penny to the county, it stands to reason that it will be spending something like $150,000,000 at the same time on the close to 10,000 miles of state roads in the whole state without the cost of a penny to the other sixty-six counties. That is, presuming that the cost is kept at $15,000 per mile.

There is no suggestion as to where the $150,000,000 is coming from, other than from "the State." Say it offhand. It's easy: "The state."

While the state" is raking up the $150,000,000 from a mysterious somewhere to make good on the Buckman prospectus, it will have to find another $150,000,000 at least to meet the formidable state highway maintenance charges that prevail under the Bigelow system.

When "the state" has put out the $300,000,000 or more to Bigelowize all the "paper" roads that have been placed on the state highway plan so cheaply by Buckman and other gang senators like him Penn then turn its attention to improving the 80,000 miles of roads which are not at present on the plan.

During the last session of the legislature Buckman gave his vote to every measure that came before the lawmakers for the promotion of Bigelowism. He figured as sponsor for the act under which Bigelow tried to drive the threshermen from the roads, bringing on a clash which resulted in Bigelow backing down abjectly.

Twenty thousand saloonkeepers in Pennsylvania are enthusiastically supporting Dr. Brumbaugh for Governor. Why?

PINCHOT SENDS MESSAGE TO BUCKS COUNTY

Senator Penrose will be in Bristol next Monday evening to address the voters of this section of the county. There will be a large audience present because the organization is proficient in ways and means of getting the "faithful to attend gatherings of that sort.

Gifford Pinchot, the Washington Party candidate for United States Senator, sends the following message to the voters of Bucks county:

"Boies Penrose is the worst enemy that the working man of Pennsylvania and the state at large has ever had.

"This can be absolutely proven by his record. He has been found lined up against the Workmen's Compensation Bill, Child Labor Bill, and other bills to help the working man. One of the most shocking things ever seen in this state took place when Boies Penrose, through his influence, defeated the Workmen's Compensation Bill at the last session of the Legislature and then wrote a covering insult to the workingmen of this state, had Senator William E. Crow the man who led the fight against this bill at Harrisburg, elected as the Republican State Chairman to manage the Penrose machine.

"I say to every man who works for a living in Pennsylvania that if you vote for Boies Penrose, you vote directly against your best interests. Penrose has always stood for the interests in our public life, the people's will at Chicago in 1912 and repudiated the wish of the voters of [illegible]

"Remember, that if Mr. Penrose says he tells you [illegible] is as much to blame for [illegible] one man. How can he [illegible] good times? Why should [illegible] for a man to bring back [illegible] when he has been unable to [illegible] times for you while he is [illegible]

"He has no influence in [illegible] He is shunned even by his Republican colleagues. They tell you he is a leader in the United States, but I know that he leads no one but himself, and he is led by the special interests, who want him back in the Senate to do them favors against you."

Senator Penrose Failed When Put to the Test.

Philadelphia Public Ledger:

It is a singular coincidence that within the past three years the Senate of the United States has been called upon to deal officially with two public scandals.

The first arose in the legislative branch of the Government, in fact, in the Senate itself. It was the case of William Lorimer, an Illinois politician of the basest sort, who had been elected Senator from that State and whose election fairly reeked with corruption.

It is unnecessary to retell the story, for its details are still measurably fresh in the public mind. Huge funds had been raised to compass his election, and legislators had been bought and sold like sheep on the shambles.

The country speedily made up its mind that the right course for the Senate to pursue was to purge its membership by unseating Lorimer.

Lorimer was a Republican, but the best men in his party could not stomach him, and by a vote of 55 to 28, in which 10 Republicans joined, the Senate relieved itself of his unwelcome presence.

Back to Illinois he went, discredited and dishonored, and since his return to his native State he has gone steadily down hill. His banks have failed, and only last week we chronicled his indictment by the Grand Jury.

Where did Senator Penrose stand on this moral issue when it was pending in the Senate? He voted against the unseating of Lorimer. Their kind of politics was about the same, and he probably saw no good reason why his colleague should be penalized.

Yet we are told that the highest and best interests of Pennsylvania will be subserved by returning Mr. Penrose to the Senate.

The second case arose in the judicial branch of the Government. Robert W. Archbald of this State, whose reputation had been impugned while on the State bench, was appointed to a seat in the United States Court of Commerce. This tribunal had to deal with most important questions, and membership therein was a life position. Senator Penrose was one of Judge Archbald's sponsors. [illegible] had scarcely gotten started, when charges were brought against Judge Archbald —so serious that the House of Representatives was compelled to take notice of them, and that body brought the Judge to the bar of the Senate, there to answer for his offenses.

The impeachment of a Judge of a United States Court is happily very unusual; a conviction is almost unknown in the annals of American jurisprudence. It was not a political, but a moral question. Among the Republicans who favored impeachment were Senators Lodge and Root. The charges seemed definitely proven, and the Senate, by a vote of 68 to 5 on the final count, 20 more than the necessary two-thirds, removed, yes, buried, Archbald from the bench that he had dishonored.

Where did Senator Penrose stand upon this moral issue?

He voted to acquit Archbald and let him remain on the bench the rest of his life!

Yet we are told that the highest and best interests of Pennsylvania will be subserved by returning Mr. Penrose to the Senate! Lorimer and Archbald—a noble pair to be sure to find a chief defender in Pennsylvania's Senator!

The country is well rid of them both, but had the counsels of Senator Penrose prevailed both would have been with us still, one as a Senator, the other as a Judge in one of our highest courts!

Does this record not fully justify the Republicans of Pennsylvania to determine in the interest of sound morals, in the interest of clean politics, not to send the defender of Lorimer and Archbald back to the Senate?

No economic exigency, fancied or real, can justify a wrong act; so much for the ethics of the case. But there is a practical as well as an ethical side to the question. Is it wise, prudent or sensible for the Republican party to indorse the indorser of these discredited men? To ask such a question would seem to render an answer superfluous.

Editor Bristol Gazette:

Dear Sir:—I have been receiving my old home paper, The Bristol "Gazette," for some time and do not yet know who is the sender. Without waiting to personally thank the sender, I desire through the columns of the Gazette to say that I enjoy reading the news from my former home town.

The coming each week of the Gazette is next to the pleasure of visiting Bristol and I want to thank the unknown friend for making it possible for me to enjoy reading of the happenings of Bristol. Although now far away from my many Eastern relatives and friends I have not forgotten them and often think of the many pleasant hours spent in old Bristol. With best regards for continued success of the Gazette and again thanking the unknown friend, I am

Yours sincerely,

MANUFACTURER COMES OUT STRONG AGAINST PENROSE

Repudiates Penrose Men As Merely a "Penrose Club"—Is Through With It.

TOOK AN UNFAIR ADVANTAGE

John Z. Faust, of the firm of D. W. Faust & Sons, Mercersburg, has repudiated the Pennsylvania Protective Union in a letter to State Superintendent of Printing Pomeroy's paper which used the firm name without authority. Mr. Faust, who says the firm's name was used without its consent, declares the union has degenerated into a Penrose Club and that he is against Penrose for keeps.

His letter follows:

"A statement appearing in your paper of October 1 places me and the firm of which I am a member, in a false light. Therefore I am sending you the following correction which I ask you to publish as a matter of justice:

"One day last June a gentleman called at our office requesting my signature to a paper drawn up by the Pennsylvania Protective Union, declaring in favor of a protective tariff. I heartily endorsed the sentiment therein set forth and cheerfully signed it. After having signed the paper my visitor artfully led the conversation to Senator Penrose and his work as the so-called apostle of protective tariff. I told him that I stood firmly for the principle contained in the declaration of the Protective Union but as for Penrose, I am against him with my influence and my vote.

"When the Franklin county branch of the Pennsylvania Protective Union was organized last Thursday, my firm's name was coupled with it. If the Union were what it pretends to be, no objection would be made. But it has proven to be a Penrose club and a movement to confuse the real issue now before the citizens of Pennsylvania so as to continue in power by the votes of a blinded people the State's greatest foe, I object most strenuously.

"I firmly believe that a protective tariff has made this country prosperous and that our future prosperity depends upon a continuation of it. But the kind of protection we most need at this time is moral and not economic—the protection of the home, of the community and of the state from the blighting and corrupting power of the saloon and its ally, the depraved politicians. I therefore endorse the candidates chosen by the temperance workers which was composed of representatives from fifty counties of our state—candidates to whom attaches not even a suspicion of liquor or boss control—Gifford Pinchot, Vance C. McCormick, William T. Creasy, Lem. Mitchell, Arthur R. Rupley, Anderson H. Walters and Harry Watson.

METHODIST PUBLICATION OUT AGAINST BRUMBAUGH

Dr. Gehrett, Formerly of Bristol, One of the Publishers.

THE SALOON KNOWS NO PARTY

Efforts of the Penrose backers to gain a modicum of respectibility for the Republican ticket by coercing ministers and churchmen to come out for Martin G. Brumbaugh, candidate of the Penrose-liquor ring, suffered a severe reverse with the appearance of the current issue of the Methodist Times.

In an editorial on "The Saloon in Pennsylvania Politics," the Methodist Times points out that 20,000 saloonkeepers are shouting for Brumbaugh because they know that with Penrose in charge of the capitol the Republican candidate, if elected governor, would never have a chance to sign a local option bill, even if he were an out-and-out advocate of such a measure, instead of a nominal supporter of liquor reform as a matter of expediency.

The Methodist Times is published in Philadelphia by the Methodist Publishing Association, under an editorial and publishing committee, composed of the Rev. C. E. Adamson, the Rev. C. H. Bickley, the Rev. S. W. Gehrett, former pastor of the Bristol Methodist church; the Rev. S. W. Hensel and the Rev. Gladstone Holm. Advisory members are Bishop J. F. Berry, Rev. H. F. Gravatt, New Jersey Conference; the Rev. H. C. McDermott, Wyoming Conference; the Rev. Rover Watt, Wilmington Conference, and the Rev. W. C. Jason, Delaware Conference.

The editorial in part is as follows:

"The saloon interests are playing a most important part in the political campaign now impending in Pennsylvania. The saloonkeeper knows no party—he is for himself first, last and all the time. As a body they work together their forces are never divided. They are never found on opposite sides in a political fight. They mass their forces and support the party which promises the greatest immunity for their death-dealing business.

"In the campaign now on they have elected to support the Republican party. Twenty thousand saloonkeepers are shouting for Doctor Brumbaugh because they regard him as a perfectly 'safe' proposition. They are wise enough to know that with Boies Penrose in charge of the Harrisburg capitol the schoolmaster governor will never have a chance to sign a local option bill, much as he might desire to do so. * * *

"Dr. Brumbaugh's statement that he is in favor of local option ought to be weighed in the light of his activity in this direction. It must be remembered that such a declaration was not made by him until it was forced out of him by the temperance sentiment of this commonwealth.

"In the light of these facts the temperance forces of Pennsylvania have selected Vance C. McCormick as their standard bearer in their contest for a saloonless state.

"Doctor Brumbaugh is trying by every means posible to dissociate himself from his fellow-candidates on the Republican ticket. As well might the ancient Roman prisoner try to escape from the melodorous and putrifying corpse fastened to his back. Well might he cry, 'Who shall deliver me from this body of death?'

"The consideration of this most important question should give us pause. The tariff is not the issue in this campaign. That has been obscured by the tremendous demands made upon loom and forge by the European conflict. The consuming theme for the Christian voter is whether the people of this state shall be allowed to decide for themselves whether the saloon shall still be allowed to fatten and batten upon the hearts and homes of the people of this commonwealth.

"Pennsylvania is in disgrace among her sister states. We are in the rear in all questions affecting the moral well-being of our people. It is high time we awoke out of our sleep. The day of judgment draweth nigh."

PENNS MANOR

Bucks Co. Club Met in Elizabeth.

The Bucks County Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. K. L. Watson, of Elizabeth, N. J., on Thursday evening, October 8th.

At the usual hour about fifteen members arrived. After the regular business session was over the remainder of the evening was given over to music and games. The music was furnished by the victrola and the game of the evening was the American Hunter. This was the test of the marksmanship of each member. W. T. Smith and J. S. Sassaman were appointed captains and sides were chosen, the former scoring the highest number of points.

Refreshments were served by the host and hostess, after which the club adjourned to meet next month at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wright, of Newark, N. J.

New Auto Tags Are Ready.

Automobile owners and drivers and motorcyclists are urged to send in their applications for licenses for 1915 at an early date according to a statement issued by the State Highway Department.

Applications will be received by the Automobile Division from this time forward and beginning December first license plates for 1915 will be shipped out to applicants. These licenses will not be valid until January 1, 1915. It is hoped that by urging applicants to send in their requests early the congestion which has occurred in previous years will be avoided.

Since there can be no possible excuse for failure to apply for new license plates it is expected, in view of this notice, that the leniency shown last year to those who were tardy in applying for licenses will be withheld this year.

BOROUGH COUNCIL HELD THIRTY MINUTE SESSION

Seven Members Failed to Attend and Routine Business Was Quickly Transacted.

MEMBERS RECEIVE INVITATION

It required just thirty minutes for the Bristol borough council to transact the business before it on Monday evening. The following members were not present Messrs. Grundy, Aucker, Conner Dixon, Gallagher, Strauser, and C. Young Franklin Gilkeson, chief of the fire department submitted his annual report in which he urged council to consider as soon as possible the purchase of an automobile pumping engine and the installation of additional fire plugs in the borough. The matter was referred to the Fire and Street committees. The report is printed in full in another column.

POLICE REPORT.

The Police committee reported that the officers made seventeen arrests during the month of September, three for assault and battery, one for disorderly conduct, one for nuisance, one for f. and b., one for surety, one for non-support and nine for drunkenness. Nine street lights were reported out during the month and 68 tramps were lodged in the station house.

The Fire committee reported that the new automobile fire apparatus of No. 5 Company had been given a thorough and satisfactory test. Progress was reported in the matter of the transfer of the property at the corner of Pond and Mulberry streets to No. 2 Fire Company.

UNAUTHORIZED GARBAGE COLLECTION.

A communication was received from Hugh Hill, who holds a contract with the borough for the removal of garbage, claiming that unauthorized persons were gathering garbage in the borough and asked that council take action to stop the practice. The matter was referred to the Health and Sanitation committee.

COUNCIL GETS INVITATION

In response to an invitation from Enterprise Fire Company, No. 5, council will attend in a body the exercises in connection with the housing of that company's new automobile apparatus on Saturday, October 24th.

C. H. Mullin and H. Swartz each filed bonds in the sum of $500 as master plumbers with Thomas B. Harkins and James H. Brooks as sureties for Mullin and Joseph Wagman for Swartz.

TROLLEY MARKET IN BRISTOL

New Departure Sure to Be Watched by Large Communities.

The first step in a campaign to lower the cost of living in Bristol was taken Saturday, when M. J. Hill, general manager of the Trenton, Bristol & Philadelphia Street Railway Company, announced that his company, in cooperation with the farmers of the adjacent community, would establish an up-to-date market at Mill and Bath streets, the junction of trolley lines leading from Morrisville, Torresdale and Doylestown and interlying towns.

Stalls will be erected and will be renter to farmers at a nominal rental, merely to cover the cost of maintenance.

FORMER BRISTOLIAN MARRIED

John B. Stover and Miss Blanche Rotzell Wedded in Kansas City.

John Bush Stover, a former well-known resident of Bristol, and Miss Blanche Fretz Rotzell, daughter of Franklin W. Rotzell, were married at Kansas City, Mo., on Saturday afternoon, October 10th. Miss Rotzell is an only child and is associated with her father and husband in the Rainshine Umbrella Co., of Kansas City, the only firm of the kind in that section of the country. After a short wedding tour they will reside in Kansas City.

A special meeting of the Bristol High School Alumni Association will be held in the high school building on Monday evening, October 19th at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Says Report is Incorrect.

The Bloomsdale Estate Company informs the Gazette that the report in the Gazette's issue of the 9th instant, of the sale of the Bloomsdale property to Mr. Joseph R. Grundy is incorrect.

Former Bristol Teacher Dead.

Miss Sarah J. Repsher, teacher for thirty years in the Bristol public schools, died at her home in Winchester, Virginia, on Thursday after an illness of 11 weeks with tumor of the brain

The deceased was buried on Saturday at three o'clock in Winchester where she has resided for fifteen years.

Miss Repsher taught for many years in the Bristol public schools and is remembered by many of the residents here. She was elected as a teacher in September, 1856, and was about 80 years old.

Prominent Speaker to be Here.

At the service in the Bristol Methodist church next Sunday morning, Rev Joshua A. Randall, D. D., of New York, will preach. Dr. Randall is a noted speaker and those who fail to hear him will miss a treat. The Methodist Brotherhood is requested to be present and meet in the church parlor at 10.15 and attend this service in a body.

He Changed to Penrose.

An amusing conversation was overheard on the street the other day, as follows: A colored man met another of his race and stopped him and in the course of conversation asked him if he was for Penrose. He quickly replied, "No, sah." The questioner then went on and told his friend how they were going to have a big lunch and refreshments and a good time just before election, and before he had finished his listener broke in with, "Say, I guess I is for Mr. Penrose."

Harold Michener, son of Game Warden William A. Michener, while gunning on the marsh on Monday with his father for reed and railbirds, killed a teal duck with No. 10 shot. This is the first duck that the young man ever killed and doing so with such small shot makes him feel very proud.

LADIES' UNION RE-ORGANIZED

Plan an Active Winter Season With Musical Entertainment Next Month.

The Ladies' Union of the Bristol Presbyterian church, met on Monday evening and re-organized for the season by the election of the following officers:

President, Mrs. T. Brownlee; first vice president, Miss Bertha Hetherington; second vice president, Mrs. Emlen Martin; secretary, Miss Elizabeth Crichton; treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Lawrence.

The treasurer's report showed that the society contributed over $209 to the church during the year.

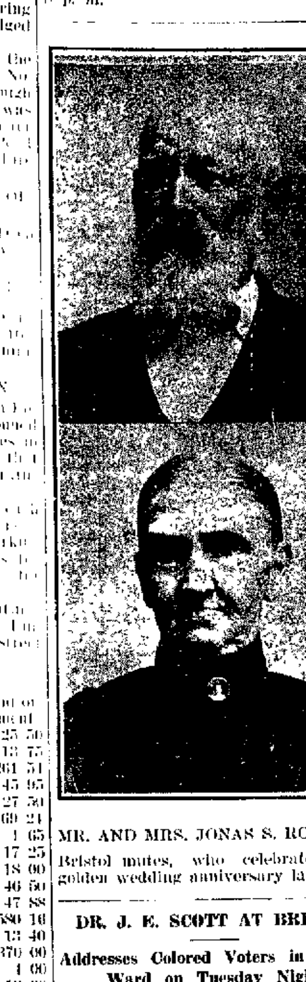
An active season is being planned and a musical entertainment will be given in November by a quartette of young women from the Ithaca Conservatory of music.

PENROSE HERE NEXT MONDAY

With Republican State and Local Candidates Will Address Meeting.

United States Senator Boies Penrose, Henry M. Houck, candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs; John R. K. Scott, candidate for Congress man-at-Large, and other Republican State candidates will tour Bucks county next Monday.

Receptions will be held at Quakertown beginning at 9.45 a. m.; Perkasie, Sellersville, Newtown, and Langhorne. A mass meeting will be held at Doylestown at 1.30 p. m and at Bristol at 8 p. m.



MR. AND MRS. JONAS S. ROBERTS

DR. J. E. SCOTT AT BRISTOL

Addresses Colored Voters in Fourth Ward on Tuesday Night.

Dr. J. Ernest Scott, of New Hope, the nominee for State Senator on the Washington party ticket, delivered an address to the colored voters of Bristol on Tuesday night in the hall of the Wilson Band, on Race street. There were about thirty persons present who evinced much interest in Dr. Scott's arguments in behalf of the Progressive party. Rev. J. A. Browne also made a few pertinent remarks, urging the colored voters to organize and stick together.

Woman Suffrage Meeting.

A meeting of the Bristol Branch of the Pennsylvania Woman's Suffrage Association was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gledhill at Bloomsdale on Wednesday afternoon After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Mrs. Albert Baker, a very entertaining talk on the suffrage movement was given by Mrs. Gledhill. The speaker told of the things that have been accomplished by women in the states having the ballot and what is being planned. Mrs Newton, of New Jersey, was expected to be present, but could could not get here.

Mrs. Emil C. Erthal gave a description of a large woman's suffrage parade she witnessed last week in Cleveland, Ohio, in which there were 5000 women in line. She said that in that city most women owned and drove their own automobiles and were active in business. The talk was very interesting.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Gledhill's on Wednesday, November 4th. All are invited.

Bread, Pie and Cake Sale.

A sale of home-made goodies will be held in the old postoffice building on Saturday afternoon, October 31st, from 2 to 6 o'clock, under the auspices of the Bristol Woman's Suffrage Association. The list of good things will include pies, cakes and bread, apple butter, Reading pretzels, crullers, baked beans, pumpkin pie, candies and other goodies.

Morrisville Minister Married.

Miss Ruth Williams, of Edge Hill, Pa., and the Rev. William C. Kidd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Morrisville, were married Monday afternoon in the Carmel Presbyterian church, Edge Hill.

The Rev. Joseph B. C. Mackie performed the ceremony.

Miss Sarah Williams, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and J. Lester Copeland was best man. Only the immediate families attended. The minister and his bride will be at home to their friends after November 1.

Marriage Licenses.

To John W. Hurley, of Wheatsheaf, and Anna A. Lewis, of Morrisville.

To Theodore W. Johnson, of Newtown township, and Mary E Clark, of Lambertville, N. J.

BRISTOL PLAYGROUNDS HAD SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Annual Report of the Chairman of the Association Shows Total Attendance Over 16,000.

THINGS NEEDED FOR NEXT YEAR

Following is the report of the Bristol playgrounds for the summer of 1914, by Mrs. W. E. Dodds, chairman:

The Bristol Playground Association opened its third year on July 6th, 1914.

The average daily attendance of the Bath street playground for the summer was 185, and the total attendance was 8678. During the summer there were 40 visitors at this playground showing the interest of parents and friends. Songs, stories and games were taught daily. Part of each day was devoted to hand work consisting of paper folding and cutting, weaving on hand looms, reed and raffia baskets, chair caning, and hammock weaving, samples of which were exhibited in Mr. Erthal's drug store window and also on the playground the closing day.

The association allowed the supervisors $5 each to purchase material for the work which was expended as follows for Bath street:

Reed, $2.82; raffia, 90 cents; needles, 20 cents; cane, 35 cents; dyes, 60 cents, making a total of $1.87, which was a small amount for the fine work accomplished.

The Washington street playground opened with an attendance of 257. The total attendance for the season was 7796, with an average daily attendance of 106. The exercises are the same here as at Bath street. Basketry and chair caning were taught here this year for the first time. Seven chairs were caned. The children were allowed to bring their own chairs to cane, by paying ten cents for the cane. An exhibition of this work was held at Mr. Fabian's drug store.

The last week in August Mr. Leech made the children of both playgrounds very happy by treating them to ice cream.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $55.45 for 1913.

The receipts were as follows:

Japanese tea	$ 50 00
Bazaar	179 00
Tag Day	25 00
Dues	4 00
Donations	5 25
Card party at Lintonhurst	50 80
Interest from bank	4 40
	$374 05

Expenses for 1914 are as follows:

Salaries for supervisors, $30 a month each (2 months)	$120 00
Salaries for assistants, $20 a month (each 2 months)	80 00
Salaries for janitors, $20 a month (2 months)	80 00
Allowance for supervisors, $5 each	10 00
Repairing 1 basketball	1 35
Wooden spoons and paddles	1 80
	$293 15

Balance in treasury, $80.90.

Repairs and supplies needed for 1915 at Bath street.

Repairs on garden swing, two braces for large swings, one dozen wooden paddles, one dozen wooden spoons.

At Washington street—Repairs on swings, hammocks for the babies, scissors and wooden spoons, and would also like a sliding board as there are so many small children attending who are too small to use the apparatus now provided; also need a garden swing.

We are very grateful to all who assisted in any way to help carry on the work. We are indebted to Mr. Minster, Mr. De Rienzi and Mr. Leedom for sand; to the Courier for tickets for card party; to Mr. Rue and also the Elks for chairs for card party and of the mills for materials contributed.

We wish to thank the public for interest shown and regret that more people cannot be persuaded to visit the playground and see the work that is being done, that they might have more faith in the need of playgrounds and, perhaps, then would believe with Edward W. Stitt "That the conservation of our youth is as important as that of our national resources." "That strength of body, allied to strength of mind will develop good all-around Americans." "That cities should be as proud of sturdy children and strong workmen, as of beautiful parks or public buildings."

SUBURBAN PLANNING DAY

Interesting Addresses Made by Prominent Men at Riverside Theatre.

The weather was perfect last Friday for Bristol's first Suburban Improvement Day. Sessions were held at the Riverside Theatre, morning and afternoon. Although the morning session was not very largely attended the addresses were very much enjoyed, with the probable exception of that of Highway Commissioner Bigelow, who certainly must have been a sad disappointment to those who were responsible for his presence.

The officials, including road supervisors, justices of the peace, burgesses, school directors, highway inspectors, tax collectors, were present from the nearby townships and boroughs.

A fine lunch was served at noon at the Elks Home, after which the guests were taken in about sixty automobiles on a twenty mile ride over the stone roads in the vicinity.

Excellent addresses were made at the Riverside Theatre by W. D. Lewis, principal of the William Penn High School for Girls, of Philadelphia; Major John C. Groome, of the State Constabulary, and Horace MacFarland, of Harrisburg; Alba B. Johnson, of Philadelphia. A paper written by Dr. Samuel Dixon, State Commissioner of Health, was read by a representative of his from Harrisburg.

The meeting was presided over by Burgess Thomas Scott, who explained the reasons for the meeting.

NEWPORTVILLE

Miss Augusta Wilson entertained Miss Mary Baker, of Croydon, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rose spent last week taking in the sights of the Mt. Holly Fair.

Dr. Fleckenstine is very busy this week examining the public school children of the township.

James Dugan is again attending the Rider-Moore and Stewart College at Trenton, to complete the course he had begun some time ago.

Mrs. George Wood entertained Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dorn and children last week. Mrs. Dorn was formerly Miss Mary Magill Rose of this town.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dorn and family, of Asbury Park, came up in their automobile last week to spend a few days with Mrs. Dorn's aunt, Mrs. George Wood.

The Union church was nearly filled with members and visitors to hear the rally day services. Mr. Ives deserves great credit for the manner in which he is building up the church.

Miss Wilhelmina Schweiker spent the week-end with Miss Anna Lampert. Mr. Schweiker is still in Germany near the scene of the raging conflict and has written home some thrilling incidents of the war.

The hand of death again visited our town on Saturday, when Mrs. Elizabeth S. Potter was called from the midst of her family to enter her eternal home. Mrs. Potter had been a patient sufferer for several months. She will be greatly missed by all for she was a kind and faithful mother and a good neighbor. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Daniel, Jr., and Wilmer Potter. The family has the sympathy of everyone.

Nothing jolts an egotist so successfully as being ignored.

WEDDED AT YARDLEY BY FRIENDS' CEREMONY

Miss Elizabeth Weeks Cadwallader Becomes the Bride of John Henry Wood.

On Saturday evening, at 6 o'clock, amidst the solemn atmosphere that pervades the old Friends' meeting house, of Yardley, Miss Elizabeth Weeks Cadwallader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Sidney Cadwallader, became the bride of John Henry Wood, son of Mr and Mrs. Frank H. Wood, of Torresdale. With their friends occupying every available place, they stood and in the procedure of the simple, yet impressive ceremony of Friends, declared their intentions, and signed the marriage certificate, which was then read by the uncle of the bride, A. J. Cadwalader. The picture that was presented beneath the bright electric lights, with which the meeting house was especially equipped for the occasion, is one that will long linger in the memory of those who beheld it. About the bride, beautifully gowned in a gorgeous creation of white satin with a court train and a long, white lace veil caught up at the side with a jeweled pin, the gift of the groom, and carrying a large bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley were grouped her attendants, the matron of honor, Mrs George Purdy, of Germantown, becomingly dressed in pink satin, trimmed with white lace. The bridesmaids also graced costumes of the same material, and were Miss Susanne Willetts, of Trenton, N. J.; Miss Gwendolyn Franklin, of Overbrook, and Miss Lydia Craig, of Rosemont. The matron of honor carried a bonquet of pink dahlias and blue hyacinths, while the other young ladies all carried huge bunches of pink dahlias. The following young men acted as ushers: George Purdy, of Germantown, Leroy Garrett, of Paoli; J. A. Cadwallader, of Yardley and A. S. Cadwallader, of Newtown, both brothers of the bride Evan T. Worthington, Prof George Nutt and Miss Belle Vansant, of Newtown, were the overseers.

After the formal signing of the certificate, and the reading of it, Nathaniel Richardson, of Torresdale, and George M. Warner, of Germantown, in a few well chosen words, impressed the young people with the solemn significance of the ceremony in which they had just participated. The bridal party led by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wood, then retired from the meeting house to automobiles which were waiting for them, and were quickly conveyed to the home of the bride on North Afton avenue, Yardley, where a reception to about three hundred of their friends was held. The receiving party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. T. Sidney Cadwallader, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Wood and the bride and groom. They assembled in the west parlor to welcome their guests and to receive the many expressions of congratulations and hopes of future happiness with which those present showered them.

The gifts received by Miss Cadwallader occupied both sides of two large rooms, and are said to be the handsomest and most complete expressions of good will that have ever been seen in Yardley on a similar occasion. Among the gifts deserving of especial mention was a massive eight-foot eight-day clock, which, while indicating the time of day, also showed the phases of the moon. Inside the clock was a gold plate with the name of the bride and the names of the donors, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cadwallader. Another magnificent present that attracted a great deal of attention was a handsome library table which was presented to the bride by the associates of Mr. Wood in Logan Trust Company, of Philadelphia, with which he is identified in business. Numerous beautiful pictures, one of which was the cathedral at Rheims, which was recently destroyed by the Germans, and many of those beautiful efforts of Wallace Nuttings, were notable; great quantities of valuable silverware of every description, fine linen, handsome clocks, and many lamps of quaint design, bore delightful evidence of the high standard of love and esteem in which their many friends held the young people. Every detail that would make for the success of the occasion and the comfort of the guests was carefully looked after.

A canopy enclosed the porch of the meeting house and the approach from the gate, this idea was also carried out at the house. The windows of the building where the ceremony was performed each held large baskets of beautiful flowers, while every room in the bride's home was transformed into a fairy dell by the mass of bloom, the brilliant lights, sparkling gems and beautifully gowned women.

A sumptuous collation was served.

At about 9.30 Mr. and Mrs. Wood departed for an extended wedding trip and upon their return they will make their residence at Langhorne, where cards announce they will be "at home" after December 1st.

Those present from Bristol were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Leedom, Mr. and Mrs. James LaRue, Mr. and Mrs. Stanford K. Runyan, and Mrs. Ernest Lawrence.

A Wedding at Langhorne.

Wedding bells pealed their joyous note on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock for the marriage of Miss Clara Burton Goheen, daughter of S. Harry Goheen, to Joseph W. Lindenfelser, son of Mr and Mrs. Joseph Lindenfelser, of Hatboro, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Henry E. Walhey, of Wayne, assisted by Rev. James J Bingham, pastor of the Langhorne Methodist church, where the marriage was solemnized.

The church was attractively decorated with ferns and smilax, the flowers being yellow. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white crepe meteor and chiffon, trimmed with Duchess lace and pearls and wearing the veil caught with tiny rosebuds. She carried a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley and roses.

Miss Esther J. Pancoast, of Morrisville, as maid of honor, wore a dress of pale green messaline, trimmed with Oriental lace and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Dorothy Lamb served as flower girl and wore a white lingerie dress with yellow sash and carried a basket of roses and yellow daisies. Russel Longshore served as best man. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Henry E. Walhey and Miss Alice F. Smith sang, "Oh, Promise Me."

The wedding was small including the relatives and only a few of their friends, both having a large number of friends in the community who extend their good wishes. A reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Lindenfelser left for their wedding journey.

Suffragists to Meet at Doylestown.

The state officers of the Pennsylvania Women Suffrage Association are planning to hold conventions in each county of the state during October, preliminary to the state convention in November. The Bucks County Women Suffrage party has arranged for a meeting in Doylestown, in Randall's hall, on October 26th, during the week of the County Teachers' Institute. It is hoped that the teachers will be able to be present. Mrs. Howard I. Patterson, state chairman of the Women Suffrage party, will make the principal address.

Miss Adella Potter, who has won so many friends for the cause in Bristol and Quakertown, will spend this week in Doylestown and vicinity and she will speak at the meeting on the 26th. She will be the guest of Mrs. Lucius Godfrey, of Mozart.

On Wednesday, Miss Potter and Mrs. Anna M. Orme will be the guests of Mrs. Abram Mott, of Lansdale, at whose home a suffrage meeting will be held at 3 p. m. Miss Potter will go to Quakertown on Saturday to make some promised addresses.

Langhorne Woman's Suffrage Class.

A Woman's Suffrage class has been organized at Langhorne and meetings are held at the homes of the members semi-monthly. Much interest is being manifested in the meetings and there is a good attendance.

What you think you deserve and what others think you deserve—alas!

BIG RALLY DAY AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

Bishop Joseph Berry Receives Class of 63 Probationers Into Full Membership.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY

Sunday was a big day at the Bristol Methodist church when the annual rally day services were held. At the morning service, Bishop Joseph F. Berry, D. D., LL. D., of Philadelphia, preached an excellent and inspiring sermon appropriate to the occasion. At the close of the sermon the Bishop received a class of sixty-three probationers into full membership. As the large class of probationers came to the front it made a most inspiring sight and as the right hand of fellowship was extended by the Bishop and Rev. Dr. Brodhead, the entire congregation was asked to do likewise and a hearty welcome was given to the new members.

At the Sunday school session the usual service was held and some preparations made for the evening service. Two classes of scholars were also promoted to higher grades.

At 7.30 the Sunday school, Epworth League and M. E. Brotherhood met in the Sunday school room and at 7.45 to the accompaniment of a seven-piece orchestra, playing "Onward, Christian Soldiers," they marched to their places in the main auditorium. The service opened with singing "The Victory May Depend on You," followed by an invocation by the pastor. A responsive service was then read after which the congregation sang "The Fight is On." Dr. Brodhead then made an address representing the church in general. A quartette composed of Misses Nellie Updyke, Ella Thornton, Howard Coombs and Charles White, sang a selection. B. Frank Conner, assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, made an address on behalf of that body.

The congregation sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," James Guy, as president of the Epworth League, made an appropriate address, followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. James W. Shipe, in her usual pleasing manner. "Never Give Up" was the next selection by the congregation, followed by a few remarks by Charles B. White, president of the Methodist Brotherhood.

E. J. Blackford, of the Headley Manor Sunday school, also made a few remarks.

During the receiving of the collection the choir rendered an anthem after which all joined in singing "America," and the benediction was pronounced by the pastor.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The First Baptist Sunday school held their rally day exercises last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A pleasing program of appropriate songs and recitations was rendered by the scholars. An orchestra of four pieces assisted with the music. An excellent address was made by Rev. Groves W. Drew, pastor of the Third Baptist church, of Philadelphia, and was very instructive and helpful. In the evening the pastor spoke upon the subject of: "The Place of the Church in the Political Life of the People."

FALLSINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Satterthwaite spent several days at Atlantic City recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Hector Watson, of Morton, Pa., have been visiting relatives here.

Mrs. James T. Watson is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Eugene Wink, of Hoboken.

Mr. and Mrs. Appleby, of Spottswood, N. J., were guests at the rectory on Sunday.

There will be a game of football here on Saturday between Morrisville and Fallsington.

Mrs. Cooper, of Point Pleasant, has been the guest of Mrs. J. N. Richards for several days.

Miss Elizabeth Smith has been making a short visit to her brother, Frank Smith, Jr., of Morrisville.

The table runner that Miss Rachel Carver lost at the Inter-State Fair was taken by mistake and returned to the officials at once.

William McClossy is improving his property by having a new barn and wagon house erected. George Watson, of this place, is doing the work.

Malcolm Watson, son of William E. Watson, having passed the required examinations, is now in the Ordnance office of the United States States Navy Yard, at Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Martha Rowe spent several days at her son's, Albert Rowe, at Edgewood. She also attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Sara Rowe, near Yardley, on Saturday.

Cards announcing the marriage of William K. Ely, formerly of this place, but now of Philadelphia, and Miss Bertha Ditmars, of Trenton, have been received by several persons here.

Leon Burton, who has been in Mercer hospital, Trenton, for several weeks, expects to be home in a few days. His injured leg is doing nicely and he is able to go about with the aid of crutches.

Miss Irene Kough, who makes her home while teaching at Frank Smith's, had as guests for two days, her father, two sisters and two brothers, from Newport, Pa. The trip was made by automobile.

Albert S. Hibbs and men have put a new roof on the primary school building which was destroyed by fire last Monday. As the building was two-story, the school was conducted on the lower floor as usual, all the week.

A meeting of the Washington party was held in Library hall on Saturday evening. The meeting was addressed by Dr. J. E. Scott, candidate for State Senator: Russell Burton and William Hurley. As the meeting had not been well advertised, there was not a very large attendance.

Dr. J. N. Richards, M. W. Moon, Harry Watson and Albert S. Hibbs, of this place, drove their automobiles in the parade on Friday, the Bristol Suburban day. About fifty cars were in the parade, the route being over the new stone road from Bristol to Fallsington and return.

Attendance at Wood Street School.

The following scholars of the second grade of the Wood street school were present twenty days during the first school month:

READ THIS, MR. VOTER, ... THE REAL LINE-UP IN ... ENNA.

Here is the issue fairly stated in the columns. Neil Bonner, President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Liquor Dealers, writes a confidential letter to the saloon-keepers urging them to line up for Brumbaugh and Penrose and warning them that if they don't, their licenses won't be worth much in a few years.

In the other column is the overwhelming endorsement by the Moral and Good Government forces in open convention at Harrisburg, of Gifford Pinchot and Vance McCormick.

Vote for Penrose and Brumbaugh, say the liquor dealers.

Vote for Pinchot and McCormick, say the forces of Good Government.

"Office of President, Neil Bonner,

"Twenty-second and Carpenter streets, Philadelphia, Pa

"My Dear Sir—I am addressing you this letter trusting that you will consider it a strictly CONFIDENTIAL, and will immediately BECOME ACTIVE AMONG YOUR PATRONS by requesting them TO REGISTER THEIR NAME AS A VOTING CITIZEN NEXT TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15 UNLESS THEY REGISTER THEY WILL BE UNABLE TO VOTE IN NOVEMBER.

"You must fully realize that the coming election in November means more to every liquor dealer, regardless of the fact of his being a retailer, wholesaler or brewer, than it ever has in the history of Pennsylvania.

"Our enemies are well organized and are about to make a determined effort to elect members to the coming legislature who will support their bills in favor of local option, anti-treating, holiday closing and other measures, all or any of which, if passed will practically mean the loss of hundreds of dollars monthly and yearly to every one of us. To some of our fellow-dealers it will mean that they will lose their license privilege, and, in such instance, who knows where they will apply for a new license PERHAPS ACROSS THE STREET FROM WHERE YOU ARE LOCATED NOW.

"You cannot help reading the papers and realizing that there are but two candidates now for the office of governor, VANCE McCORMICK, the DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE, WINS THE FIGHT YOUR LICENSE WILL NOT BE IN FORCE MANY MORE YEARS.

"WE MUST ALSO ASSIST IN THE RE-ELECTION OF SENATOR PENROSE.

"For once in our business life, WE ARE FORCED TO DEFEND OUR HOMES AND BUSINESS. WILL YOU HELP US BY URGING YOUR PATRONS TO REGISTER.

"WRITE OUT A NOTICE AND PLACE IT ON YOUR MIRRORS OR BACK OF YOUR BAR CALLING ATTENTION OF EVERY CUSTOMER TO THE FACT THAT HE SHOULD REGISTER TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, WITHOUT FAIL.

"You can do much to help us out of our trouble if you will do so.

As a further proof of who the liquor men want, the "Personal Liberty" party, the political organization of the liquor men themselves has made Senator Penrose, Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh and every liquor candidate on the Republican ticket their nominees. This action was taken at Harrisburg September 29, last.

Feats of a Strong Man.

Well known in the old buffalo days of Saskatchewan was Joe Beaupre, famed a thousand miles as the biggest eater in the north. Joe was not six feet tall, but he was a broad, deep, thick sort of man, with a hand like a ham and a stomach like nothing else in the world. He could eat an entire ... of apples at one sitting and think nothing of it. Once having encountered a gentleman who thought he was some eater, Joe consumed fifty three pounds of buffalo meat in one day and topped off with a raw turnip, a six pound piece of pork some lard and two loaves of bread. The best his competitor could do was thirty seven pounds of meat. Beaupre was so strong he never would fight any man for fear he should kill him. One day while sledding on a narrow trail with an obstinate horse, he became annoyed, struck the horse on the head with his fist and killed it. He loosened the harness and threw the dead animal to one side of the trail. He never really knew how strong he was. Beaupre died of rheumatism while still a young man.—Saturday Evening Post.

The Seventh Inning Stretch

It is a simple ceremonial but impressive life all manifestations of the soul of a multitude. I need only close my eyes to call up the picture vividly. It is a day of brilliant sunshine and a great crowd of men is seated in the open all a crowd made up of all conditions ages races, temperaments and states of mind. The crowd has sat there an hour or more while the afternoon sun has slanted deeper into the west and the shadows have crept across greensward and hard baked clay to the eastern horizon. Then almost with a single motion—the time may be somewhere between 4 o'clock and 5 o'clock—this multitude of divers minds and tempers rises to its feet and stands silent while one might count twenty perhaps. Nothing is said. No high priest intones prayer for this vast congregation. Nevertheless, the impulse of 10 000 hearts is obviously focused into a single desire. When you have counted twenty the crowd sinks back to the benches. A half minute at most and the rite is over.—Simeon Strunsky in Atlantic.

Virtue of Peanuts.

The oil of the peanut has a quieting effect on the pneumogastric nerve the largest nerve supplying the stomach. Many nervous persons who like peanuts and do not know why, like them for this reason. They quiet the nerves of the stomach. These persons should eat a few fresh roasted peanuts after each hearty meal, as many nervous conditions are due to an irritation of the pneumogastric nerve, and the peanut oil acts as a sedative to this nerve. Of course the nuts must be crisp and well chewed and not too many taken. To get the best sedative effect a handful of the best peanuts should be eaten just before retiring. This presupposes that the powers of elimination are in good repair. The peanut a member of the pulse family is nutritious and would clog the system if not eaten correctly as it is almost equal to meat.—Philadelphia Ledger.

When Seals Were Food

The grey seal used to serve Cornish men as an article of diet. Stephen Hawker tells how he and a brother clergyman having asked a landlady at Boscastle what she could give them for dinner, were told "Mout and taties." They tried to get her to part with the meat but "Mout like wholes me meat, and taties was the full extent of her information. When the meat was served it tasted like veal but was unaccompanied by any vestige of bone that might have enabled the diners to infer its origin. Years after that Hawker lighted on the nature of the meat when he read in an old list of prices a wail that "the people of Padstow do catch divers young seales with dogbutts if they be fish or fill conynge housewives will not buy the roast and do make thereof a vile meat."—London Graphic.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known combined with the best blood purifiers acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

Just a Cold

It is the season when catching cold is easy. Everybody seems to have one, we say, and think that a sufficient excuse. But really it isn't pleasant to have a cold, and it is likely to lead to a habit of catching cold with more resulting dangers than anyone likes to think about. A few precautions would prevent half the colds and reduce the severity of most of the others.

An overheated, under ventilated room sometimes seems comfortable. But it is a great breeder of colds. Fall are to get out into the air and to take exercise is very often convenient but it puts the system in fine shape for catching cold. Overheating, which some folks call "feeding a cold," is simply abuse of the body, just as not eating enough is. Good food and fresh air and exercise—these are the great preventives of cold. Nature isn't a very hard tyrant, but she is exacting. And when she rings the bell on you with a cold it's time to think over what you've been doing and leaving undone and decide to do differently.

The remains of three Union soldiers buried on the first day's battlefield were uncovered recently at Gettysburg. The bodies were found about thirteen inches under the ground on the part of the field occupied by Barlow's cavalry while one of the town's relic hunters was digging in the ground in quest of relics. With the bones were found two five dollar gold pieces, a number of brass buttons, which indicated that they were New York soldiers, and two bullets. The bones will be reinterred in the National Cemetery.

Kidney Troubles Attack Bristol Men and Women, Old and Young

Kidney ills seize young and old. Often come with little warning. Children suffer in their early years—Can't control the kidney secretions. Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.

Women worry; can't do daily work. Men have lame and aching backs. If you have any form of kidney ills you must reach the cause—the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys—

Have brought relief to Bristol people. Bristol testimony proves it.

Mrs. W. Mohre, 149 Otter street, Bristol, Pa., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good medicine for kidney complaint. One of my family has used them for kidney disorders and lame back and has always had very fine results. Should I ever suffer from kidney trouble, I would certainly take Doan's Kidney Pills, for there is no better kidney medicine to be had."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mohre had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sore Throat Wisdom.

To relieve Sore Throat you must get at the seat of the disease, removing the cause. Nothing else does that so quickly, safely and surely as TONSILINE. A dose of TONSILINE taken upon the first appearance of Sore Throat may save long days of sickness. Use a little Sore Throat wisdom and buy a bottle of TONSILINE today. You may need it tomorrow. TONSILINE is the standard Sore Throat remedy—best known and most effective and most used. Look for the long necked fellow on the bottle when you go to the drug store to get it. 25c and 50c. Hospital Size $1.00. All Druggists.

Building a Fire

In building a wood fire in an open fireplace shake out a double sheet of newspaper and crush it tightly leaving the edges loose that it may ignite easily. The back log should be of the greatest size that the fireplace will hold and may be of green wood as this is the last to burn out and the draft and fire are strongest in the back. The log should be shoved against the wall if it is a split log the inside of it should be turned toward the front. Three logs are a good number to start a fire with—the back log a smaller one in front and the third log on top of these. All of the ashes of the first three or four should be left on the hearth as they make a fine bed for keeping the embers hot after they have fallen through the andirons. The wood should be mixed in order to have an ideal fire—green wood with dry and the harder varieties oak and pine with the wood of old fruit trees that have died. Apple wood gives a mellow soft light.—New York Sun.

Connecticut Taverns of 1644

Taverns came early, and under order of the general court in 1644 they were established not only in Hartford but others in each town upon our river. An old authority tells what a guest might expect.

Clean sheets to lie in wherein no man had been lodged since they came from the laundress, and have a servante to undress his bed and one to pull off his boots and make them clean and have the hoste and hostess to visit him and to eat with the hoste or at a common table if he pleases or eat in his chamber commanding what meate he will according to his appetite. Yea the kitchen being open to him to order the meat to be dressed as he liketh it best.

The landlord was not to allow a person to be intoxicated in his house or to drink excessively or to tipple after 9 o'clock at night.—"A History of Connecticut" by George L. Clark.

We Do It on the Fourth.

It is curious that the Fourth of July has become the American day of celebration since it was on July 2 that congress passed the really important motion for independence and the Fourth only saw the adoption of the Declaration. John Adams wrote to his wife: The 2d day of July 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade with shows games sports guns bells bonfires and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other from this time forward for evermore. But they do it on the Fourth.—London Chronicle.

How Loch Awe Was Formed.

Highland tradition gives a quaint explanation of the creation of Loch Awe, that noble mirror of the mountains in the magnificent scenery of Argyllshire. The bed of the loch was once, it is said, a fertile valley with a fairy spring which had always to be kept covered bubbling from the mountain side. A careless girl however, having drawn water forgot to recover the well. All through the night the spring flowed and by the morning Loch Awe had come into being. No one need regret the carelessness of that highland lassie. For Loch Awe is now one of the most exquisite of beauty spots in Great Britain—a churning sheet of water studded with pretty islands while around the shores in many places as sociated with interesting legends and historic incidents of the highlands.—London Answers.

Greek Wind Vanes

The Greeks as far back as the fifth century B. C. were the first to make regular meteorological observations some results of which still are preserved. Their great capacity for pure science inclined them to propound meteorological theories. At this time they used wind vanes and in the first century B. C. they built the tower of wind at Athens. The first quantitative observations—that is the measurement of rain—were made in the first century A. D. These were made in Palestine and their results are preserved in the Mishnah.

Salt in the Coffin

In certain localities in the old world they put salt in the coffin before it is lowered into the grave. This is the survival of an ancient custom which was once universal. The custom grew out of the idea that Satan hates salt because it is the symbol of incorruption and immortality.

The Sneeze

People say "God bless me" after sneezing from the fact that in the days of the plague this terrible malady began with violent sneezing and other indications of cold. The exclamation was thus originally a prayer to be delivered from the plague.

Havana's Pathetic Little Door

This little door is one of the entrances to La Casa Beneficencia the large and well regulated orphan asylum of Havana. The passerby might easily take it for a coal bin if coal were generally used in Cuba for which the door is closed there is nothing to indicate its use. On opening it however one finds a revolving circular box divided into two compartments. It does not need to be explained to a citizen of the district that has been erected here on many occasions.

A woman in her hour covered with a black shawl hurries hither, a bundle to her breast, quickly along the narrow street. She reaches the little door. Glancing furtively about to see that no one is looking, she opens the door and, sliding in silent sobs kisses for the last time the baby she is about to renounce. She places the child in the circular box gives it a turn and hurries on. Inside one of the Sisters of Charity hears the tinkle of a bell. It marks the arrival of a newcomer in La Casa Beneficencia.—Boston Herald.

Force of Habit

A humorist was looking over a mill and while in an unguarded moment he was perpetrating one of his jokes upon an innocent operative he was drawn into some ponderous gearing and badly crushed.

They extricated him from the machinery and laid him on the floor.

"Who is it? Who is it?" was the anxious inquiry as a crowd collected.

Nobody knew.

Then the funny man suddenly opened his eyes and stove to speak. A sympathetic bystander bent down to catch his words.

"There's good reason why nobody recognizes me," he whispered painfully.

"What is it?" asked the sympathetic one.

"Because the humorist explained as he saw a chance to get one home. It's because I've been traveling incog."

That was his final effort for he never spoke again.—London Tit Bits.

"Towel" of Hot Air

In hotel factory and public lavatories where roller towels should not be used because of the danger of spreading skin disease and where the expense of furnishing individual paper or cloth towels is considerable the electric hand drier may be used economically and satisfactorily. A sanitary hand drier described in the Electrical World consists of a sheet metal case with an opening in its top in which the hands can be inserted and dried by a current of hot air. A foot pedal operates a quick acting switch which starts a blower forcing air through the electric heater. The hand drier is of course absolutely sanitary as it is unnecessary to touch any part of the apparatus when using it. The hands can be thoroughly dried it is declared in from thirty to forty seconds, which is less time than is required to perform the same operation with a linen or paper towel.

Associations

All experience evinces that human sentiments are strongly affected by associations. The recurrence of anniversaries or of longer periods of time naturally freshens the recollection and deepens the impression of events with which they are historically connected. Renowned places also have a power to awaken feeling which all acknowledge. No American can pass by the fields of Bunker Hill Monmouth and Camden as if they were ordinary spots on the earth's surface. Whoever visits them feels the sentiment of love of country kindling anew as if the spirit that belonged to the transactions which have rendered these places distinguished still hovered round with power to move and excite all who in future time may approach them.—Daniel Webster.

Long Honeymoon

Marriage among Moslems in India is followed by other ceremonies. The bride with the bridegroom is taken back to her father's house after four days, then again she comes back to her husband's house after ten days stay and then after a stay of twenty days returns to her father's house for at least six months. Thus instead of having a short period of honeymoon they make it last almost a year.

Mouth of a Whale

The whale rarely, if ever, swallows anything larger than a herring. Although the head is of enormous size from one quarter to one-third the length of the body and the mouth fifteen to twenty feet long and six to eight feet wide the opening of the gullet is not larger than a man's fist.

Sweet Oil

Gertie said a mother to her five-year old daughter, "there's a dime. Run down to the drug store and get me a bottle of sweet oil."

Gertie started down the street, but soon came running back to ask, "About how sweet do you want it mamma?"—Chicago News.

You are also requested to have the exact fare ready, as payment is to be made upon entering the car. When you wish to leave car notice must be given to the car crew by means of a push button at each seat. The exit door is at the front left hand side.

As the platform must be kept clear for the use of passengers we will not be able to take ice cream tubs or large boxes on the car, but to take care of the ice cream and large packages, we will run a freight car to leave Croydon at 11 45 A. M., and Bristol for Morrisville at 12 00 o'clock noon, to arrive at Morrisville at 12 40 P. M. On the return trip the car will leave Morrisville at 12 50 P. M. and arrive at Bristol at 1.30 P. M., and at Torresdale at 2 00 P. M., and from Torresdale the car will return to Croydon. Small, clean packages will be carried on the cars as at present, but no large packages will be taken.

We hope to give you better service than ever before and we earnestly ask your co-operation.

Sincerely,

Trenton, Bristol & Philadelphia Street Railway Co.

M. J. HILL, General Manager.

Glove Silver

Glove silver was the strange name given to a sum which preceded in England the subsidies, a name, by the grant of a certain sum of money to assist the bailiffs with on Lammas day. It is said to have been called from the custom of the bailiffs wearing gloves in which to receive the money.—London Saturday Review.

A Mistake Avoided

"I say old chap, I'm in shocking luck. I want to buy bulls and haven't the least idea what I am to ask. What I'm afraid of is that I might buy a confounded lot of cows, and I don't know a bull from a cow."—Sydney Bulletin.

She Held Silversmiths

Among the silver masters of Sheffield, England, it is rather an established practice to encourage the employment of families. It is more the rule than otherwise that a father working in the silver trade will apprentice his children to that trade as they arrive at working age.—Exchange.

AT THE EDGE OF THE WA...

Second Letter From New York Regarding Relations of America to the European Conflict.

By J. E. JONES

(Staff Correspondent of the Gazette)

New York City, October ...

There are the same eager crowds in front of the newspaper offices as there were a month ago when I wrote my first letter from here. Morning noon, evening or midnight it makes no difference at Times or Herald Square as many of these people will be in the boards and bow up.

Scores for news have dwelt on the fortunes engaged in this deadly struggle that is going on in Europe and the very scenes of the world's great battles are of the identical ground which many of these people were born upon their childhood.

At Washington war is an economic question that must be met in some way as to curtail the smallest possible extent on the American people. New York war is a real tragedy. It not only affects the lives and happiness of each of the citizens of the metropolis but it demonstrates ... as well.

As time goes on the public is forced to take a more dispassionate view of events and in consequence there is less talk of the brutality of soldiers at the front since it appears to have been determined that ... not engulfed there might have been that so relates to individual soldiers and the French and English have ... to reproach the Germans and Austrians while ... Germans and Austrians are apt to limit in talking with the French and English that the earlier reports, these matters were greatly exaggerated. There will never, that is to be, be the days of mediaeval chivalry among the noncombatants nations, but quite as unpopular as did the methods in early political campaigns in the United States.

THE NEWEST CENSORSHIP.

There was a time in the history of corporations when they associated with the circulating public ... to say nothing of the ... which is followed by the ... at war Germany gets ... a number 200 words a day by wireless. The remaining dispatches ... by way of England ... of the first acts of the war was ... both of the German cables. ... Americans not only its own ... but American reporters charge ... connect with even going to the ... of holding up the news of a ... days.

It is said the Associated Press ... filled instrument with the English ... utmost in characterizing the ... ship as a blot on civilization ... the twentieth century. The people ... the news good or bad and ... summed in New York seem ... they are a number of papers ... extravagant and untruthful ... the Allies is reflected in the ... ing cards of the New York ... Left to the street cars which ... Do I waste your time by ... in manufactured war news. ... this failed to produce the real ... the war and the censorship ... entirely to blame. This ... reliable news has given ... to fabricated war news. Its ... the Times, or Ben Bennett ... Herald has established ... York Herald has spent his life ... and is now outdoing Europe ... character of news which ... in supplying to its ... and sensory on the part ... has been a fertile field for ... The priests who have ... the cry for a land of ... to reproach the ... they do not show evidence ... the people of the truth.

NEW DEMANDS UPON UNITED STATES.

The Washington government ... American bankers from ... war loan to France thus ... that we are central and ... gold as well. Much has ... about the damage inflicted ... commerce but that it ... will be borne in good ... by the fact that the guns and ... business is booming on ... of the water and the Allies ... ing the American manufacture ... the shut. The Robinson ... has resolved $500,000,000 ... outstanding from Russia ... same order has purchased ... for cars and 1,000,000 pairs ... for its soldiers and 1,000,000 ... shoes since the war broke ... land has like has been ... mer in the line ... order ... for 100,000 cotton ... King George's soldiers ... come through with an order ... 000 reels of ... wire ... ought to lend ... the suspicion ... French have been reading ... story of Sam Slick ...

BLOCKADING U. S. ...

The American Trans-Atlantic now consists of six ships ... dition there are ships in the ... American trade. These ... popular because the ... are not apt to be molested ... seas. And yet what is ... blockade of the port of ... a squadron of British ... cruisers has been so ... even British shipping ... complained of the activity ... own government. The ... Sun declares steam-ships ... trial colors sneak into the ... hugging the coast within ... mile limit. The same ... how Captain Anderson ... haul up if the gun fire ... the British squadron and ... of involving the government ... way ran the blockade in ... that would have won the ... old Vikings who made the ... on ocean highways. Even ... newspapers carry stories ... tivities of this munificent ... hugs close to the American ... people are recalling that ... of the Civil War England ... excuse upon now maintaining ... supervision of American ... doubtedly England is within ... limits but the case ... its attitude in policing ... will not add to popularity ... ebrating the signing of the ... Ghent, and one hundred ... peace between the United ... the Mother country.

THE PEACE TALK.

London tells us that Italy ... noyed at constant talk ... and may seek reprisals ... United States in consequence. ... Washington asserts that ... mediation has been suggested ... politicians declare that ... ment, while neutral is ... to truckle to Great Britain ... moment any suggestions ... wards peace appear ... Thousands of people feel ... son has not yet been ... and that Europe and the ... must be brought to the ... edge before the conflict ... peace, when it comes, ... ing for all time—and that ... must there be a great war ... libel nations.
